As part of this process, the member may submit a written position statement to the Panel. The monthly contribution amounts due (Total Share Amount Due) is based on the program level you selected. You must manually pay the monthly contribution, which is the Total Share Amount Due, within the VSE. The amount specified in your Monthly Share Notice is transferred through an EFT drawn off your external bank account or credit card. Your Monthly Share Notice will display the Total Share Amount Due and includes the current monthly share amount, any past due amounts, and any relevant service fees. In addition to your monthly Share, you can make additional voluntary contributions, such as donations to the Member Assistance Fund. You can make these contributions in the Member Center. You can add, edit, or delete a donation amount at any time. You can change your funding source, whether external bank account or credit card, at any time.	6.2. The Service Fees will be automatically paid to REDEEM HealthShare monthly. You can see the full accounting of your funds in the Member Center. Additionally, you can make voluntary contributions, such as donations to the Member Assistance Fund through the Member Center. You can add, edit, or delete a donation amount any time. You can also change your funding source at any time, whether external bank account or credit card.
V.D.	Publishing and Sharing Participation in the REDEEM community is voluntary. This means that when you are notified about another member's medical need, but you object for any reason, you may withdraw and voluntarily inactivate your membership during the three-day publishing period (described below) rather than participate. REDEEM HealthShare implements a member-to-member approach to sharing, which means that members share funds directly with one another. Before you share any funds with another member, REDEEM HealthShare allocates, matches, and publishes medical bills that are eligible for sharing to the membership. Medical providers will submit medical bills, or when necessary, members can submit their own medical bills. REDEEM HealthShare processes all bills per the Guidelines to determine eligibility. approved for sharing so those in the sharing community can contribute to other member bills.

Each member matched to share your bill receives a notification about the amount due through a process called publishing. The information includes the amount withdrawn from their Share Account to fund your medical bill. The member matched to share your medical bill will receive a notification about you and your need unless you choose the anonymous setting in your Share. Once the three-day publishing period has ended, the published amount for each member will display on a Virtual Bill Account for the payment of your bill.

A member could and can withdraw from their membership prior to the expiration of the three-day publishing period even though REDEEM HealthShare already completed matching and allocating the Share of another member's medical bill. REDEEM HealthShare will not transfer funds (from a member who voluntarily inactivated) to the receiving member.

Because a member may refuse to share in a particular medical expense for any reason or no reason, the sharing process remains entirely voluntary for every member. However, as noted above, any sharing refusal requires withdrawal from membership before the end of the three-day publishing period.

Member Share Accounts

To process and pay medical bills quickly, REDEEM HealthShare uses a Share Account for all sharing transactions and activities. REDEEM HealthShare Ministry is NOT insurance. The ministry does not collect and hold medical reserves in a REDEEM controlled bank account. Instead, the monthly share amount is deposited in every member's individually controlled Share Account. These Share Accounts allow REDEEM HealthShare to plan for the cost fluctuation of medical services.

6.4.3 Matching Medical Bills

Your medical bills that are eligible for sharing are matched, and published to another membership prior to sharing. REDEEM HealthShare implements a member-to-member approach to sharing, which means that you share funds directly with another member, rather than drawing from funds controlled by REDEEM HealthShare.

Members matched to share your bill will receive a Funding Notice indicating the amount that he or she will pay and information about you and your Need. Once the member sends his or her Share through the Member Center, the amount is transferred to a Virtual Bill Account for the payment of your bill.

Upon inactivation of your membership, REDEEM HealthShare will automatically send share any available balance in your Share Wallet to a member in need.
